

ABOUT YOUR DISCOVERY AUTHORS

SHARON SACKS is lead editor for Discovery. She has long been involved in ministry, mentoring children and young people, leading Bible studies, and writing materials for both children and adults. She also served as Director of Personnel for a missions agency serving workers in the hard places of the world. Officially retired, Sharon continues to write and teach, as well as serve on her church's Missions Committee.

ALISON ALLEN returned to the UK in 2014 after 14 years of being involved in mission in and from Romania. She now lives in Suffolk with her husband, two young children, and three cats. Alison is currently working in the local Public Health department, while researching millennials in international mission for a PhD.

ALI WALTON is Associate Rector at Emmanuel Church in Loughborough. She is married to Steve and they share their home with a lovely border terrier named Flora. Ali enjoys reading, walking in the beautiful Leicestershire countryside, and all things crafty and creative.

STEVE SILVESTER is Rector of St Nic's Nottingham, a thriving international city-center church. With his wife, Jane, he is also a foster carer. In 2015 he founded Nottingham City Prayer, uniting churches across the city. Steve is a keen road cyclist and walker.

MIKE HAWTHORNE and his wife, Sue, have settled into a large rambling old house in Herefordshire after many years of mission in Asia. They use the house for various types of hospitality ministry.

JO SWINNEY is Director of Communications for A Rocha International and the author of eight books, and counting. She has an MA in theology from Regent College, Vancouver and live in Bath with her husband and their two daughters.

PETER MEAD is one of the pastors at Trinity Chippenham and a mentor with Cor Deo. He teaches at Union School of Theology and at the European Leadership Forum. He has written several books, including Pleased to Dwell and Lost in Wonder (both with Christian Focus), and he is married to Melanie.

TERRY CLUTTERHAM, a former staff member of the publishing, content, and leadership teams of SU England and Wales, now lives with his wife Sue in Norfolk. They enjoy exploring the countryside, reading, writing, and discovering how God might use them in their new church in Norwich.
